SOCIAL JUSTICE PLEA BY BISHOP LAWRENCE

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—A plea for social justice for the masses was voiced by Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts in the official sermon of the Protestant Episcopal church convention delivered at Christ Church Cathedral.

"One of thousands of unburied people in the United States today," said Bishop Lawrence, "deserve of excellent character and religious parentage, are to be won back to the church by conviction on the part of the clergy founded upon personal experience, fair play, a sense of justice and life of willing sacrifice."

CITES NICODEMUS.
Bishop Lawrence cited as an example of the unburied masses, Nicodemus, a young man in Christendom, "Christ reached Nicodemus," he said, "by talking it out with the young man. He first spoke of the truths of faith but did not cry creed. He suggested spiritual truths which both understood out of the depths of experience."

"Fair play is what people demand from the church. The law of Christianity does not condemn any man before he is heard. There is a suspicion on the part of some that the church is composed of carefully chosen people, who are not to be kept things as they are. There is a suspicion on the part of others that the church is here to support the existing regime and opinions without regard for truth. The main purpose of the church will have to be changed."

ON SOCIALISM.
Speaking of social justice, Bishop Lawrence pointed out that when a man is touched with the spirit of an evangelist, the church should not condemn without a hearing.

"When a body of people inspired with a new idealism for socialism rises up, the church or Christian people may not condemn them. The law of Christ does not condemn any man unheard," he continued. "The law of Christ does not condemn any man unheard."

Bishop Lawrence asserted that even as Nicodemus was when he came to Christ's house, hanging from a cross and when he heard his last words, so should the clergyman of today visit young men by personal acquaintance.

N. Y. HAS 200,000 DRUG VICTIMS

By International News Service.
New York, Oct. 23.—More than 200,000 persons in New York city are addicted to drug habits, according to a report just issued by the district attorney. From January 1 to October 1 of this year, 1245 arrests were made for the sale and use of narcotics. In the same period, 1489 were convicted.

SAVING LIVES

Twenty-five women and children, terrified by smoke from a rubbish fire in the tenement block at No. 3 South Morgan street, West End, fled to the fire exit of the building where they were not familiar with the workings of the fire escape.

Sixteen families, comprising about seventy-five people, occupied the tenement, and the person in charge refused to leave by the stairs, despite the protests of the women and children. The fire was not dangerous, but the women were so terrified that they had difficulty in getting down the fire escape, because of jamming, loose ladders, and household articles which blocked the way.

CRITICIZE VISIT OF GIRLS TO U-53

Miss Margarette Caperton, daughter of Rear Admiral Caperton, at left, and Miss Mary Falkenstein, two Newport girls whose visit to the U-53 is looked upon by Washington matrons as a breach of social propriety.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The strict neutrality which Washington society has insisted upon since the European war began is wobbling, all on account of the blithe visit paid by two Newport girls to the U-53, which the latter dined at in Newport Harbor a fortnight ago.

Chief of the Navy, the young commander of the U-53, made a call upon Rear Admiral Austin M. Knibbs. When he started back to his submarine, he was accompanied, as part of military etiquette, by one of the Admiral's aides.

The gallant aide, with Captain Knibbs' permission, invited some of the Newport girls to visit the submarine. Among the dozen or so who hurried to take advantage of this interesting opportunity were Miss Mary Falkenstein, the daughter of Rear Admiral Caperton, U. S. N., and Miss Margarette Caperton, U. S. N.

Miss Falkenstein acted as interpreter for Captain Knibbs in the exchange of courtesies aboard the U-53. The visit of the society group attracted only ordinary attention at the time, especially as the mischievous Newport girls were seen slipping the net morning drove all other details of the neutrality.

MANY IN PERIL ON FIRE ESCAPE

Twenty-five women and children, terrified by smoke from a rubbish fire in the tenement block at No. 3 South Morgan street, West End, fled to the fire exit of the building where they were not familiar with the workings of the fire escape.

SEBERG'S CONFERENCE HUGHES

Selection Commissioner Frank Seberg, one of the leaders of the Irish-American, confirmed today a statement sent out by the Democratic National Committee that a conference of the American Independence Conference, of which Mr. Seberg is one, held a secret meeting with Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican candidate for President, in New York, at which Hughes' famous anti-alien speech in Maine was discussed and at which Mr. Hughes, in "diplomatic" language, disapproved of any alienation of the "Irish" vote.

The Democratic National Committee, which went to the assistance of Mr. Seberg, did so in the knowledge that Mr. Seberg did not believe in the value of the conference, and that Mr. Hughes' speech in Maine was a masterpiece of the "Irish" vote.

It was today from New York that Mr. Seberg was charged with the duty of securing the conference to refrain from attacking the "Irish" vote.

Hughes Is Asked to Repudiate

New York, Oct. 23.—The Democratic National Committee, in making public intimations and proceedings of the American Independence Conference, asked Charles Evans Hughes to repudiate the conference.

It is a secret recall of the conference under which Hughes, who has been making the furor of the issue between himself and the Irish-American, was asked to repudiate the conference.

That a working agreement was reached between Mr. Hughes and the Irish-American, was reported by the press on September 27 and 28. The agreement, it was stated, was made through a special committee.

PROGRESSIVES ASKED TO REPEAL

New York, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Helen Lorch, who is still hoping to prove that her husband, Charles A. Becker, was innocent of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was today asking for his support in the campaign for the United States senatorial election, after a considerable time of inactivity.

She tells the Progressives that "progressive" is a word which is used by the Irish-American, and that in the past it has been used by the Irish-American to mean "progressive" and "political" parties.

HELD FOR ROBBING TWO AGED WOMEN

Pittsfield, Oct. 23.—Harry Coons and Edward Aschles, alleged maulers and burglars, who robbed the home of two aged women near the Lebanon, N. Y., line and were captured in the home by a peace officer, have been brought to the Berkshire Jail and are being held pending a hearing on the charges.

It is alleged the pair frightened Miss Louise Smith, eighty, and her sister, Miss Ada Smith, seventy-seven, from their home after firing three revolver shots through the windows.

The women fled and notified a neighbor, who summoned help and a search was made for the robbers.

It was found the house had been ransacked and articles of jewelry stolen.

The Clyde Motor Truck Company is located in New York at Farmingdale, Long Island, where it has spacious new factory buildings, one story, long, brick and steel construction covering 30,000 square feet of space and fronting the main line of the Long Island Railroad. Over 40 acres of land have been provided for expansion and additional construction is under way.

The Company was incorporated March 7, 1916. It is under the management of automobile men who have been active and have had practical experience in the industry for from five to fourteen years with large and successful companies such as the White Motor Company, Studebaker Corporation and General Motors.

Within six months from the time the company's manufacture was begun, land has been purchased, factory buildings erected, organization brought together, and an engineering department with its laboratory and drafting rooms are within a few days of completing the original construction of what the company intends shall be its sole output—The Clyde one-ton truck.

This truck has already been sold in the foreign market to the extent of over two hundred thousand dollars. A single order for 204 trucks, valued at $2,040,000, has been received from the Australian agency, is now on the company's books. Announcement of this truck made in the principal cities in conjunction with the distribution of this stock, has created an instant demand from dealers.

The big successes of the motor world have been made in making motors to meet a price demand. This has been done many times in the past, but never before in a similar opportunity in the motor truck field. It is a one-ton truck to sell at $1,000 and the Clyde Motor Truck Company of New York has taken this field. It has put upon the market the first do-everything, go-everywhere truck to sell at $1,000 flat—it has picked an open field yet untouched.

This truck has been designed to be produced in quantity. The company's first building schedule of 1,000 trucks within the first twelve months is unquestionably the largest first-year schedule of any new organization that has ever been developed in the East, and will make the Clyde Motor Truck Company the largest exclusive builders of one-ton trucks.

The company's engineering department is under the direction of Mr. A. F. Mals, formerly of the Daimler Motor Company of London, England, and the Studebaker Corporation in Detroit, Mich., and recognized now in this country as one of the foremost authorities on motor truck construction; and Mr. C. R. Van Buskirk, who assisted in designing the famous Mercedes automobile. The sales department is under the direction of Mr. W. F. Melhuish, Vice-President and General Manager, who has been in touch with buyers of American trucks for the past fourteen years and knows exactly what the public demands in a thoroughly first-class one-ton motor truck.

These men have not entered the business simply because others have made money in it. The manufacture of trucks has been their training and they have designed the Clyde $1,000 truck because there exists an unprecedented demand for a truck of this character and this price. Motor truck building is just beginning—it is now where pleasure-car building was several years ago.

MoTor says in the issue for Feb. 1916

"There are few industries in America today which compare with the motor truck in the financial returns to their investors. The Ford Motor Company alone has divided $18,000,000 in stock dividends, after retaining more than $15,000,000 of its common stock. The Harnay company declared a 100 per cent dividend, after doubling its capital stock. The General Motors Corporation divided 77 1/2 per cent, making a total of 100 per cent for the year. The Canadian Ford organization declared a 60 per cent return. General Motors divided 50 per cent with its stockholders. The Continental Motor Co. cut a 100 per cent dividend, while the Harnay Wheel Co. handed out 166 per cent. The Republic and Prestone tire organizations distributed 100 and 166 per cent dividends respectively. This list might be almost endlessly expanded if space permitted.

A limited allotment of Preferred 8% stock is being offered for public subscription. We call your attention to the great capitalization of this company, which makes this stock particularly attractive to the investor.

The Price Is $12.50 for One share preferred stock (par value $10)

DOWN AMERICAN SPORTS

Now for the Real Thing Saturday's Menu Spicy

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

The coming Saturday the football teams representing the so-called Big Three enter the final of their season. On two gridiron games are scheduled with teams that easily rank up to their supposed great dimensions. On the third it would appear as though the opposition will not be so stiff.

In the former case Harvard meets Cornell in a contest that should stir the Crimson to a mighty effort while Princeton and Dartmouth look up in a battle that is bound to be for blood. It doesn't seem as though Yale would have a very difficult task defeating Bob Metzger's Washington and Jefferson team.

To our way of thinking, Cornell and Dartmouth are entitled to top rank and rather than classify as Big Three, one might more properly refer to the Big Five.

Followers of the Crimson football fortunes will recall that a year ago Dr. A. S. Phelps' Cornellians handed their only considerable defeat to a walling Princeton team. The game was a close one and on the showing of the Big Green last Saturday there will unquestionably be a strong feeling that the Purple are due for another easy triumph.

HARD GAME TO PREDICT.
As regards Cornell and Harvard it is difficult to predict just what the outcome will be. Last Saturday Harvard wasn't forced to any great extent to lead a 47 to 9 victory over Dartmouth. Nobody expected them to have any difficulty, especially as Dartmouth is to a considerable extent the same team a week before.

It was the first game the Crimson has played with E. D. Laughton in direct charge, and, strangely enough, reports would indicate Harvard was weak in interference to the point of its general offense. As usual, the back line was very good, played the full Eddie Casey and Billy Murray. Laughton's halfback, by their excellent off-half, running and handling of the ball, however, controlled his brilliant

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR PLANT JUICE

Popular Retired Business Man Is Now Feeling the Best He Has in Years

Relative to the remarkable new medicine, Plant Juice, now being introduced in Boston for the relief of the aged and infirm, and which has created such a sensation in the large Western cities, we have the following testimonial:

"I have been using Plant Juice for some time, and it has given me the best results I have ever known. I am now feeling the best I have in years, and I am sure that it is the best medicine I have ever used."

CHARLES H. COLLIER, Retired Business Man, Boston, Mass.

Thousands have flocked to the headquarters of this medicine, and the results have been so successful that it is now being sold in every city and town in the United States.

Plant Juice is a natural product, and it is the only medicine of its kind. It is the only medicine that can be taken by the aged and infirm, and it is the only medicine that can be taken by the young and healthy.

HERO AT TROUBLE

Star Quarterback Highly Praised For His Gameness Saturday; Jochem Also Shows Luck.

Although Tuffe came through with the expected victory over Boston College Saturday, Coach Haven was not at all satisfied with the showing of his warriors. There was a lack of punch and drive to the line that came very near being disastrous.

The game showed Tuffe Jack's dependable substitute quarterback, both Jeffery and Pratt proving failures. In practice during the week both boys showed up in good style, but when the real test came they were not there.

Pratt spoiled Tuffe's chance to put the game on the line in the first period, when he elected to try the same play four times running when Tuffe had the ball on Boston College's five-yard line. After the failure, Brock's boys were laying for the play and gained possession of the ball on downs.

Crack Tackle Goes to Infirmary and Through for Season; Tait Slated to Secure the Place

New Haven, Ct., Oct. 23.—Charles Sheldon, Yale's crack tackle, to the loss of Tait Jones' eleven for the season. He was taken to the college infirmary three days ago and his condition is such that he will not be able to play.

Sheldon will be confined to the infirmary three or four weeks longer, and he probably played his last game last Saturday. His replacement will be made by Tait Jones, who is now in the college infirmary.

Sheldon was injured while playing for Yale at a game with Harvard. He was taken to the college infirmary three days ago and his condition is such that he will not be able to play.

TELL VALUE OF
SUNDAY PRAYER
MEETINGS

Boston ministers for the second time told of the value of the Billy Sunday prayer meetings in Boston homes at the noon meeting today in Park Street Church.

The Rev. James P. Walker, Sunday's assistant, presided and called upon representatives of the different sections of the city to give their reports about these meetings. Many cases of individuals doing better were brought to light.

At the Presbyterian ministers' meeting today in the rooms of the Massachusetts Bible Society, plans for the Sunday meetings were discussed. At the Baptist ministers' meeting in Chipman Hall, a Billy Sunday rally was held. This will be continued until November 13 on Monday mornings, when the tabernacle meetings will open.

Over in Chelsea all classes are co-operating with the members of the local committee.

First R. H. Jones, who has charge of the men's work, reports a splendid success all along the line.

"Our committee is getting things into shape for the coming of the Rev. Isaac Ward, who will make the address before the men's meeting in factories," said Chairman Hagan.

"Requests have come from all over the state from trained workers for an opportunity to speak at men's meetings of this kind. We are satisfied that we will have many men for this special work. Men will be quickened everywhere by the opportunity of Christian work; they will be told of its blessings and advantages by the different speakers."

STRIKE RUMORS DENIED.
"Joe" Spicer, tabernacle worker, denied today that there has been any strike among the roofers working on the tabernacle.

"This is all nonsense. We employ no one but union men and this ought to be the line to be understood," he said. "I wish some one would stop these rumors about there being a strike among the roofers. It is so much thing."

A business men's meeting in the interest of the campaign will take place in Park Hall, October 23, at 5:30 p. m. under the auspices of the Boston Congressional Club. George Thine and L. A. Moley will speak.

Sunday Calls Detroit
Folks "Tightwads"

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 22. — Although Detroit is one of the most prosperous cities of the United States, and like a golden El Dorado in all forms of amusement and investment, Billy Sunday, in his Sunday services, declared Detroit people were stingy when it came to religion.

He expressed his keen disappointment in Detroit's generosity because of the time it has taken his audience to meet the expense of the revival. His attitude, although showing more concern over the financial feature of the revival, than the saving of souls, in which he has been unusually successful in a bad light, however, as he is only personally interested in the contributions of the last day of the campaign.

"It has taken two weeks longer to raise the money to Detroit than in any place I have been in during my twenty years of preaching," said Sunday. "Taking the daily average, about persons have attended the services to date, and it has taken them six weeks to give a nickel each."

FOR LOCAL CHARITIES.
"Why, with all the money that's in Detroit, we ought to have had money to burn," he declared.

About a week ago Sunday announced the week-day collections would be turned over to local charities, as he expected the offerings at the Sunday afternoon and evening services would meet the deficit. Since then, however, it has been discovered that the expenses were greater than anticipated. Therefore the collection Saturday night, intended for the Michigan Children's Home Society, were withheld for the tabernacle fund.

When he is through with his Detroit, Boston and New York engagements, Sunday probably will be in the Atlantic. He conducted a series of revival meetings in Sydney and other large cities of Australia. He has also received plans to go to Alaska.

"It doesn't make any difference whether Sydney is a city or whether it is a figure of speech, or God to show how awful we can be punished," he said in his Sunday sermon. "You don't want to go to hell to find out whether hell is literal or not, do you?"

WORKING EPICURE.
"Whether there is a hell or not is a question that the church can settle but in no way. He that believes shall be saved, and he that believes not is condemned already. You can determine anything about hell by scientific investigation. A man that eats does not believe in sin."

Some of the striking epigrams in the evangelist's two sermons were: "Be a man, not a frame to hang a suit of clothes on."

"There's a big difference between making a living and making a life."

"If every man lived right, no boy would go wrong."

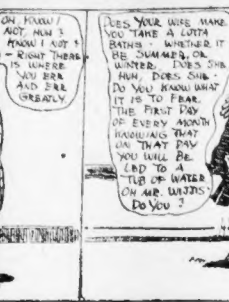

"Some people care only for appearance. They are all front door. Open the front door and you'll get into the back yard."

"The devil finds one on a good bed and pillow, but God gives one a percentage mark."

He hundred and fifty-eight people in the back hall on nothing for these six men in the afternoon service for men. In his sermon to the men Sunday told them the Bible is a matchbox.

"Matchbox—real matchbox—is the common thing in the world."

Americans Should Aid the Orphans of France

THE proposal to raise $100,000,000 in America to be spent in the care and education of the orphans of fallen French soldiers will meet almost universal approval among Americans.

The bond of friendship between the French and the American people runs through all our history—and it is an indisputable fact that upon the only two occasions, during a hundred and forty years, in which France and the United States approached a quarrel, the PEOPLE of France did not approve of the course of the GOVERNMENTS then in power in France.

It is very doubtful whether our Revolutionary forefathers would have succeeded in wresting independence from Great Britain had not France extended sorely needed naval aid.

Very recently it has come to light that the English Government, in that day of our fathers' trial, secretly proposed to return to France the conquered Canadian colonies if France would refuse aid to the struggling Americans, and that France rejected the bribe, tempting as it was.

It seems to us that grateful recollection unites with the promptings of humanity to urge Americans to carry out the most gigantic and wonderful charitable plan ever broached.

One hundred and thirty millions of dollars is an immense sum, even in this largely rich country, and while money does not wipe out a debt of gratitude, such an enormous gift would certainly be proof to all the world that the big heart of America beats warmly in response to the memories of the glorious past and in answer to the appealing voice of humanity.

What Do the People of Rhode Is'and Think?

Here is a letter from a citizen of Rhode Island. The AMERICAN would agree with Mr. Holliston's view of the AMERICAN'S responsibility on account of its large circulation in Rhode Island:

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir:—I have read your article editorial on the reactionary Henry Cabot Lodge and the fight for a Senator such as he. Your widely-read newspaper would do a public duty in calling the attention of the Rhode Island electors to the great opportunity now here to defeat Henry F. Lodge, Governor of Rhode Island, and to elect in the Senate. The big circulation of the Boston AMERICAN has secured the most attention to the stand-pat condition in this State.

Yours sincerely,
L. A. HOLLISTON,
Providence, R. I., Oct. 19.

A Letter from the Telephone Company

The following letter explains itself:

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

General Manager,

William H. Dwyer, Jr.,

Boston, Oct. 18, 1915.

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

My Dear Sir:—With reference to your editorial of today entitled, "Your Telephone Bill," based on an anonymous letter signed "An Unfortunate Subscriber," in which he states that despite overcharges on his register (which he says were cancelled by a representative of the company), no refund was made by the company, will you permit me to say:

The practices of the company provide that whenever an operator registers a call which has not been completed, she shall mail a "refund ticket," which refund is to appear on the subscriber's bill. It is beyond her power to change the register.

You say "It is inconceivable that a great public service organization would practice such petty fraud." I am sure you will sympathize with operators from any such insinuation.

Over a million calls a day are handled in Boston and vicinity. Some are long distance. It is not exact justice to give them advance payment, and to register them when made. No cable allowance on many such calls is made every month, although the total number is a very small fraction of the total number of calls.

The subscriber need not "fear the result of the telephone company" by declining to give his name. In the ordinary, I will assume it a false bill. If he will give us the name of the place which he is present in his vicinity to you. On the facts set out, any insinuation of intentional fraud to make proper refund would misrepresent the attitude of the company and its employees in order to interpret their duty to the public.

In any case, will you not kindly forward this letter to him in the hope that he may be willing to help me in correcting the real reason for his bill?

Very truly yours,
W. H. DWYER, JR.,
General Manager.

Once-Overs

Did you ever try to "once-over" a smile? There are many kinds of smiles, and each carries a different meaning, but the only one worth a person's notice is the one which comes straight from the heart and is prompted by genuine good feeling. The man who never smiles is a preferable to the one who smiles to cover up some sort of devilry.

Such a fellow requires the closest kind of watching, and the less you have to do with him the better.

By the way, what has become of the good hearty laughter? According to the ethics of society, outbreaks of good spirits are taboo. A good laugh is classed as "gruff."

But there are a lot of others who miss this, men with the good laugh. Perhaps this is our designation as belonging to the common herd, but we are willing to accept the classification and extend the hand of good fellowship to the man who knows how to laugh spontaneously and from the heart, and does so when he feels like it.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

The Call of the Nations

WANTED, more men—for the dead and the dying.

Yonder where many a river runs red,

Heaped in the war-riven trenches are lying—

Men must be found who can die in their stead.

Ever the call of the cannon roars louder:

"Hurry us troops till we're saved again;

March forth battalions of food for our powder,

Search through the world for them—wanted, more men!"

WANTED, more men—for the best have been taken;

Their rifles are silent, their war songs are stifled,

They are deserted, their banners forsaken—

Never again can they kill or be killed!

Justifiable Indignation

Why Do Girls Refuse to Be Housemaids?

Dorothy Dix Tells of One "White Slavery" Victim Who Indignantly Rejected an Offer to Make Her a Domestic Servant

By Dorothy Dix

A GENTLEMAN who has been intensely interested in the present vice crusade was talking the other day to one of the girl victims of the so-called white slave traffic.

The girl told a most heart-breaking story of her wrongs. She was young and pretty and tall and lithe, and she said that she had been employed by a large manufacturer of women's wear as a model; that she had been ordered by her firm to entertain out-of-town buyers, and that when she had refused to do so she had lost her job. Then she told how she had searched day after day looking for work and finding none.

"I am an orphan," she said. "I have no friends, no money, no home. What else can I do except to go upon the streets?"

Would Never Demean Herself by Going to Work as a Domestic Servant

"I will tell you what you can do," replied the sympathetic man, as he surreptitiously wiped the tear of pity from his eyes. "Go home with me. I will give you good work at good pay and a good home."

"I live in a beautiful house in the suburbs, and you will have your own room and bath, a big room that has two windows looking out on a flower garden, and that is cool in Summer and warm in Winter. You can have your Thursday and Sunday afternoons off, and I'll give you $30 a month in addition to your board and lodging. The work is hard, but my wife has been doing it for the three months that we haven't been able to get a maid."

"What?" cried the girl in indignation, "do you think that I would demean myself by being a domestic servant? Never!"

"And there you are," said the man in relating the incident to me, "girls complain that they are driven to the streets to make a living because they can find no work to do, or work that is so ill paid that they cannot keep soul and body together, and yet half the housekeepers you meet are on a perpetual hunt for a maid."

"Quite a lot of values that girls have, isn't it, when they consider being a white slave an easier way of making a living than being a cook, and that it is more degrading and disgraceful to be in a kitchen than it is to go on the streets?"

Would Rather Freeze Than Live in a Comfortable Maid's Room

It is queer. Nothing else on earth is quite so inexplicable as the rooted aversion that girls have to domestic service. They would rather starve than feast in the pantry. They would rather freeze and sweeter than live in a comfortable maid's room.

They would rather wear the scarlet letter on their bosoms than a white cap on their heads.

It is not the pay that keeps girls from going into domestic service, for few occupations are better paid. Most of the unskilled workers get even of her clothes, and such food and lodging as the factory hand and shop girl seldom have, in addition to her wages, while the expert cook or waitress may name her own salary, and people struggle with each other to give it to her.

Not it is because the average girl dislikes housework that she refuses to become a domestic. On the contrary, practically every normal minded woman likes to cook and clean and fuss around a house, and the very things that you cannot hire a girl to do for you for love or money, she is dreaming of doing in a home of her own some day.

Neither do girls pass up the kitchen as a last proposition because of the tyranny of mistresses. The downtrodden servant girl is as much a myth as the sea serpent.

As a matter of fact, Mary Ann is the boss of the earth. She is the real ruler of the kitchen before whose awful threat to leave we all tremble, and the suggestion of opposing her is rank nonsense. Nobody could do it.

All she has to do when she is displeased is to pin on her hat and walk out of your house into somebody else's, who has wrestled with the servant question until she is as worn and exhausted that she is ready to take anyone that comes along.

The very idea that anyone is going to maltreat a good servant is preposterous on the face of it. She is too necessary to our peace and comfort to be trifled with. She is too precious a jewel to run any risk of losing.

It is a solemn fact that most of us are a deal more polite and considerate to our servants than we are to our friends, because it is so much easier to supply the one loss than the other. The world is full of companionship and sympathy, but there is precious little good slavery.

No One Is Rash Enough to "Sass" or Maltreat a Good Cook

Being human, there are times when even the most amiable woman loses her temper and speaks the baby and talks back to her husband, but none of us is rash enough to "sass" a good cook. She has the means of retaliation too handy. She can leave, while we are bound to stay.

Possibly philanthropy may fall at times and the milk of human kindness turn to clabber, but selfishness never fails, and we may be safely trusted to cherish the person who holds our bodily comfort and mental peace in her hands.

Of course, the girl's excuse for preferring starvation and white slavery to domestic service is that servants are looked down upon. The remedy for that lies in their own hands. If housework is considered a degrading occupation it is because it is habitually the worst and most dishonestly done work in the world. No labor can be constantly done without intelligence or interest or care without reflecting on the person who so performs it.

It may comfort Mary Ann in the kitchen to know that writing was once considered a menial occupation, and that to be an actor was held to be so disgraceful a calling that the theatrical profession were pariahs, but writers and actors, by doing good work, have raised their calling to a fine art that reflects honor and prestige on those engaged in them.

It lies with servants themselves to do the same and value their work to the dignity of a profession, and when they do they are going to be honored and not disgraced by following it.

But there isn't a poor girl living that you can collect the truth of this.
